For Immediate Release:
San Anselmo Selects Seven Landscape Design Firms for Reimagine Creek Park Design Competition

San Anselmo, CA— Seven landscape design firms were selected for their qualifications from a highly-qualified fifteen entries in San Anselmo's design competition to reimagine the Town's Creek Park Reimagine Creek Park Design Competition into Creekside Commons.

Landscape design professionals were invited to provide their qualifications, interest, capabilities, and experience in the creation of projects with comparable features, uses, scale, and municipal interface. A screening sub-committee of the Reimagine Creek Park Community Advisory Committee (CAC) reviewed qualifications from 15 designers. At the CAC's public meeting this week, seven entrants were approved to prepare concept design submittals.

These seven finalists include:

- Dilworth Elliot Studio – San Francisco
- Hood Design Studio – Oakland
- Terrain Studio – Oakland
- SWA Group – San Francisco
- RHAA – Mill Valley
- April Phillips Design Works – San Rafael
- Fletcher Studios – San Francisco

Unlike traditional design competitions, which often require detailed and extensive design and technical solutions, the focus of the Reimagine Creek Park Design Competition has been to generate conceptual solutions that are most attuned and responsive to the needs and goals of the community. Submittal requirements are simpler, focusing on larger concept ideas that create a project vision for the Creekside Commons in a clear, understandable way.

Concept designs are due to the Town by May 8, 2019. The CAC will then move to select at least three of the concept designs to move on in the competition. Those finalists will present their concepts at a Town Council meeting on May 28, 2019.

The selection of the winning design concept will be made by the Town Council based on the CAC evaluations and the finalists' presentations. The winning concept will be announced at the June 11, 2019, at the Town Council meeting.
